

The Duluth Daily Tribune.

VOL. I.

DULUTH, MINN., WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOV. 23, 1881.

NO. 164.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

D. G. V. L. BROWN, DENTIST, OFFICE OVER
Post Office. Gas administered. Sept. 6-11.
DESIGN & CASH, ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
may 16-17.
M. H. STEWART, ATTORNEY AT LAW,
June 17.
H. P. THOMPSON, ATTORNEY AT LAW, OPposite over A. J. Miller & Co's store. June 11.
C. S. ALLEN, DENTIST, OPPOSITE CLARK
Block. May 16-1 year, D.

Phoenix Iron Works.

A. B. McLean & Co., Props.

All kinds of Machine Work and Heavy Forging, and Dealers in Rubber and Leather Belting, Brass
Goods and Rubber Packing. May 16-1 year, D.

H. H. BELL, W. C. EYSTER
(Established in 1877.)

BELL & EYSTER,

BANKERS,
DULUTH, MINN.,
Do a General Banking and Exchange
Business. May 16-1 year, D.

"CASINO,"

Wm. DAMBRUCK, Prop.,
—DEALER IN—

Imported Wines, Liquors Cigars.
Also Agent for the Pommers
Badweiser Export Bottled Beer.
July 12-1 year, D.

LOUIS MEINING, Sr.,

General Contractor.

Contracts Solicited for EXCAVATING, BRICK AND STONE WORK.
Leave orders at the Hardware Store of John R.
Meining. Nov 4-11

J. W. FORD & CO.

Fire, Marine and Life

Insurance Agents,

OFFICE: 26, SUPERIOR ST.,

May 16-1 Over Board of Trade Rooms.

Geo. Spencer & Co.

GRAIN

On Commission.

DULUTH, MINN.

Cash Advances on Consignments.
May 16-1

J. B. CULVER,

GENERAL DEALER IN

FLOUR AND FEED,

HAY, OATS, CORN, MIDDINGS,
BRAN, SALT, COAL, LIME, CE-MENT, &c., &c., &c.

CULVER'S DOCK,

DULUTH - MINN.

Advances Made on Consignments.
June 29-11.

AMERICAN

Exchange Bank,

DULUTH, MINN

CAPITAL: $75,000.

Interest paid on Time Deposits. Agency for Ocean Steamers.

Directors:—Hon. C. E. Vanderburgh, George Spencer, A. S. Chase, H. M. Peyton, A. B. Macfarlane, Officers:—H. M. Peyton, President A. B. Macfarlane, Cashier; Jas. C. Hunter, Teller.
May 16-1 year, D.

JOHN H. LA VAQUE,

DEALER IN

PAINTS, OILS, VARNISHES,

AND

PAINTERS' SUPPLIES.

Wall Paper, Window Shades, Curtains

Fixtures.

Chromos, Engravings, Picture Frames, &c.

DULUTH, MINN.

May 16-1 year, D.

MAD GITEAU.

He Objects to Any Reflection on His Intellect or Ability.

He Scolds His Counsel For Trying To Make Him Out
A Fool.

He Had Ideas But No Reputation During the Last Campaign.

Thinks That He Could Draw
A Crowd Now, If Not Then.

Sets the Audience in a Roar of Laughter At His Joke

OBSTREPEROUS GITEAU.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The attendance at the criminal court this morning was sensibly diminished on account of the rain storm. While Giteau was taking his breakfast at the City Hall he expressed dissatisfaction at the release of Jones on bail. When the court opened Scoville made a request for the papers taken from Giteau at the time of his arrest, stating that they were material evidence for the defense, and since the prosecution had not needed them, he could see no reason why they should be withheld. The district attorney offered to furnish copies of the papers, but Scoville insisted upon his rights in the matter and asked for the originals. Pending the discussion, Giteau insisted upon being heard and said:

GITEAU'S EXPLANATION.

"I can throw some light upon this. At the time of my arrest I had forty or fifty editorial slips showing the political situation in May and June last. The steps show the action and one of the forces that impelled me on to shoot the president, and they are very important as showing the gist of the whole matter. There were forty or fifty slips denouncing President Garfield and it was by living on such ideas as these that I was finally impelled on to the shooting of the president, with my inspiration." Corkhill interposed, saying: "If it will enable you to get through to-day, I will send them at once."

WHY HE DROPPED JULIUS.

During a momentary lull in the proceedings, Giteau desired to make a personal explanation, saying that he had used an expression yesterday, that Julius was too suggestive of the negro race, and for that reason, he had dropped it from his name. His prejudice was begotten twenty years ago and he meant no disrespect to any person or any race, nor were there any more highly thought of than the whole race now-a-days. Scoville continued by reading Giteau's letters. Scoville read the letter written by Giteau to his father, in which he spoke of having gotten into some trouble, and in which he asked for money. Giteau explained, saying: "Let me, one of my clients, a miserable little whelp, had me arrested on account of a little difference of $20 between us. As soon as the district attorney's attention was called to the matter, I was released. I never ought to have been arrested, but it got into the papers and did me a good deal of harm. I had been in the theology business for some time, and as usual was out of money. That's all there was in that." As the reading of the letters continued, Giteau again interposed, saying: "I never got much from my father. He got down on me because I left the Onondaga community, and we could never, after that, agree on that miserable, stinking community business. I'm mad every time I think of it. It kept me out of fellowship with my father up to the time of his death." Scoville, resuming, alluded to Giteau's career as a politician, and drew the conclusion that his intellect was deficient.

HE GETS HOT AND BOILS OVER.

This view aroused the prisoner at once, and he began a series of interruptions, protesting against Scoville's conclusions as false. When reference was made to his running around from one committee room to another seeking to be employed as a campaign speaker, and his failure to obtain recognition was mentioned, Giteau shouted angrily: "Twas not because I had no ability, but because I was not known. I had ideas but no reputation. They wanted big guns like Gen. Grant and Sen. Conkling, men who would draw." Then in direct contradiction of his counsel's declaration to the jury yesterday that Giteau was a man who never made a joke in his life, he looked up with an amused smile and added, "I presume I'd draw now." This provoked general laughter, which was promptly suppressed by the judge, who struggled to disguise a smile on his own features. Scoville continued upon the same line, and criticized Giteau's speech, entitled, "Garfield and Hancock." "It was," he said, "a mere jumble of ideas collected from newspapers and from speeches of others. No one but a crazy man would have imagined, as Giteau did, that this speech possessed any merit."

GETTING HOTTER.

Giteau became more and more restless, and in the most excited manner yet shown by him, shouted to Scoville: "I object to your theory on that score, and when you try to make out that I'm a fool I'm down on you. I want you to tell the truth. You need not try to make me out a fool. I say duty inspired my act and I will take care of it. I want the truth, and that's all there is about it." Corkhill arose to protest against the interruptions of the prisoner when Giteau moved his hand to him patronizingly and said: "It's not necessary to make any remarks, Colonel, just let the matter drop." Scoville was willing to agree to any measures the district attorney might suggest to restrain the prisoner. Davidge desired to suggest a way to prevent the outbreaks. He attributed them entirely to Scoville's course in commenting on the evidence already submitted and attempts to argue from it a mental infirmity on the part of the prisoner. Giteau listened intently, and, striking his clasped hand upon the table in front of him, exclaimed: "I agree with that, all through, and I desire to thank the prosecution, every one of them, for the liberal spirit they have shown. I think Corkhill made a fine opening. There wasn't any bitterness at all in his speech, and I commend him for it." Giteau began to interject his observations upon Scoville and the theory that he (Giteau) was deficient in intellect and protested that he would not allow his counsel to make him out a fool. After a few minutes, Giteau subsided and promised the court that he would keep quiet. Scoville concluded his opening without further interruptions or incidents. At the request of the district attorney, witnesses for the defense were excluded from the court room with the exception of Mrs. Scoville.

THE FIRST SHOVELFUL.

Judge Stearns Upturns the First Sod on the Duluth & Winnipeg Railroad.

A Large Gathering of Duluth's Representative Men at the Interesting Ceremony.

W. W. Spalding Dedicates the Road to Progress and Commence Over a Bottle of Champagne.

SPEECHES AND CHEERS.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon there was a notable and memorable gathering down at Rice's Point, in the neighborhood of Graff & Little's mill. Quite a number of our prominent citizens and old pioneers assembled to witness the turning of the first sod of earth on the D. & W. R. R., which was to open the first two miles of grading. Among those present we noticed W. W. Spalding, A. M. Miller, J. C. Hunter, A. J. Sawyer and R. C. Mitchell, the original stockholders of the new road, besides Judge Stearns, L. Mendenhall, R. S. Munger, C. H. Graves, Dr. V. Smith, Frank B. Smith, Dr. Walbank, T. A. Olmsted, M. J. Davis, E. G. Swanstrom, Major Seip, Henry Leopold, B. Heller, J. B. Bilheimer, General Manager; E. C. Davis, Contractor; Mr. Cowan, J. T. Rose and W. S. Woodbridge.

The work began on the right hand side of Superior street, near Graff & Little's mill, and Judge Stearns and J. C. Hunter were chosen to dig the first shovelfuls of earth. They seized the shovels and pretty soon the dirt began to fly, when a shovelling spirit seemed to catch the crowd and there was a rush for spades and the digging progressed finely. R. C. Mitchell was chosen to wheel the first barrowful, which he did successfully, emptying the dirt across a log. At this stage of the proceedings, Pres. W. W. Spalding advanced in front of the spectators with a bottle of champagne, which he broke, christening the road and dedicating it to Progress and Commerce. The sight of the sparkling liquor made the spectators thirsty, and suddenly, like a petty bombardment, corks began to fly and the wine that exhilarated was passed around. The success and prosperity of the road was drunk, and a bright outlook for it and Duluth pictured.

JUDGE STEARNS' SPEECH.

J. B. Bilheimer then called upon Judge Stearns for a speech, who, in advancing, said that although he hadn't come to make a speech, yet in view of the auspicious opening of the new road, he couldn't help thinking that it was another of the surprises, which the Northwest has recently offered. Had they, a few years ago, spoken of the resources of the great Northwest, the people in the east would not have believed them. Indeed they could scarcely realize what these resources were themselves. The change that has been made in this country by the Northern Pacific R. R. is amazing. One who had seen it before and would see it now could scarcely believe it to be the same country. But it was left for the D. & W. to create the biggest surprise of any. In the first place, it is a surprise to many that the road is to be built at all. The idea of running a road from here to the boundary line was a subject of jeers and laughter only a short time ago, and now it has been proved that the road is one of the most practicable and will do more for Duluth than any other. The judge said that he believed the road was in the hands of men who knew they had a good thing and had the ability to carry it on. In the selection of Mr. Bilheimer, he believed that it had secured a capable and pushing manager, in whose hands the work of rushing the road to completion would not lag.

COL. GRAVES' TALK.

Col. Graves was next called upon and said that he was, from the beginning, a believer in the feasibility and practicability of the road. When it was regarded as a joke and a byword he had not lost faith in it. He saw that the great country Northwest of us here, would need a nearer outlet to the lakes than that afforded by the N.P., and this want was met by the D. & W.

MAJOR SEIP.

Major Seip made a few remarks, expressing his confidence in the practicability of the road and in the ability of Mr. Bilheimer to carry it through successfully. He was acquainted with Mr. Bilheimer before the latter gentleman came to Duluth, both being from the same county in Pennsylvania—and he knew his fame as a railroad builder.

MR. BILHEIMER'S SPEECH.

Mr. J. B. Bilheimer, general manager of the road was next called on, and said that although he did not intend to make a speech, he would say that although when he and his associates first secured the franchises of the D. & W. R. R., they had confidence that the country which it traversed would make it a paying road, yet the better acquainted they became with the country, the better pleased were they with their purchase. He knew that the road would bring both trade and commerce to Duluth and would assist in building up a great city at this point. For himself he would say, that since coming to Duluth he has met with nothing but kindness and encouragement from the citizens of the place, and he hoped that they would remain satisfied that their confidence would not be misplaced. He trusted that within two years he would be enabled to invite these present and many others to another celebration in honor of the completion of the road to the boundary line.

Mr. Bilheimer was followed by E. C. Davis, the contractor, who said that he was acting under instructions to push his portion of the work through as rapidly as possible. He said that he was familiar with every foot of ground in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, and that the D. & W. R. R. went through a country richer in every respect than that tributary to the N. P. R. R., fifty miles of which he built, and the St. P. M. & M., of which he built forty miles. After Mr. Davis' speech, there were three cheers given for the new road, and the crowd scattered on its way rejoicing. And thus began the work on a new line which will add to Duluth's greatness.

Cow Lost.

A red cow with white spots, and a chain around her neck, on one hip "HX" and on the other "K." Five dollars will be given to the one who returns her to the owner.
Nov 22-11 C. D. KREMER.

Wide-Awake Delta.

Messrs. Sargent Bros. druggists, Delta, Ohio, in ordering a quantity of Thomas' Electric Oil, write that they never sold anything that gave such universal satisfaction in curing coughs, colds, bronchitis, rheumatism, neuralgia, etc. For sale by F. B. Smith.
Nov 21-11 d & wlv

Kidney Complaint Cured.

B. Turner, Rochester, N. Y., writes: "I have been for over a year subject to serious disorder of the kidneys, and often unable to attend to business; I procured your Burdock Blood Bitters, and was relieved before half a bottle was used. I intend to continue, as I feel confident that they will entirely cure me. Price $1.00. Sold by F. B. Smith.
21 d & wlv.

Dwelling House

WANTED.

A good Comfortable dwelling house wanted immediately, for which a liberal price would be paid. Enquire of

LEOPOLD,

The Clothier.

Leopold's Prices on Clothing

Have Spread all Over the City, and it is a Public Secret that

Leopold's Clothing House has Become The Popular Clothing House of Duluth,

Call and see our splendid stock of new, fresh and fashionable garments, which are being sold as low as the "reduced" prices elsewhere asked for accumulation of old stock, odds and ends, etc., etc. I am showing the Largest, Best and Cheapest stock of

Fall and Winter Clothing

In Minnesota. Also Furnishing Goods and Lumbermen's Supplies.

Leopold, Manufacturing Retail Clothier, dealer in everything worn by mankind. Ceaseless toiler for trade. Look out for our juvenile magazine. Gift presented to every family that deals with

LEOPOLD, "The Boss Clothier."

THOMAS BOWER,

Sole Agent for

Chicago Rustic Monument Company

And General Agent For

American Granite Monument

And American and Italian Monuments.

St. Paul, Minn.

may 16-11.

Wm. C. SARGENT,

Real Estate.

City property and wild lands bought, sold and managed on joint account. Taxes paid, titles examined and conveyancing done. Special attention to securing lands on the line of Omaha and Air Line Railroads, in Douglas Co., Wisconsin. Good references furnished, correspondence solicited and promptly answered. Office over A. J. Miller & Co's Store, corner Lake Ave. and Superior St., Duluth, Minn. Sept 19-11

THE MODEL

DRUG STORE.

Of the State.

Frank B. Smith,

DRUGGIST.

Begs leave to announce that he is now in his

NEW STORE,

Which is believed by many who visit it, and who are competent to judge to be the Largest AND Handsomest

Establishment of the sort in the state. In this Mammoth Drug Store, it can truthfully be said that there is hardly anything lacking which can be found in any store of the kind in the entire west.

Here Will Be Found

—AN—

Immense Stock

OF DRUGS

—AND ALSO—

Staple and Rare Chemicals

Foreign and Domestic Medicinal Preparations, Fine Essential Oils and Select Foodstuffs, all Standard.

Patent Medicines,

New Pharmaceutical Remedies: Mediterranean, Eucalypti, and Florida Sponges; Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Soaps, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, etc.

Prescriptions Carefully Compounded

Either by Day or Night and all orders answered with dispatch. It will not be without interest to state that here may be found

Magnificent Soda Fountain

At which Cooling Drinks can be had all hours be procured.

My old patrons, to whom I take this sion to extend my thanks for past patronage and the public generally, are respectfully invited to favor me with a call whenever wanting anything in my line.

FRANK B. SMITH.

CLARK & MARVIN,

REAL ESTATE.

PINE, MINERAL,

AND

AGRICULTURAL LANDS

Bought and Sold in Northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Pine Timber Examined and Reliable Estimates Given.

—ALSO—

Choice Mill Sites

And other City Property Secured.

OFFICE IN HUNTER'S BLOCK,

DULUTH, MINN.

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv

Sept 12 d & wlv