St. Paul Social Circles.

Though not quite keeping up the pace of the two preceding weeks, the past week has been sufficiently gay to keep the debutantes busy. The german given by Mr. and Mrs. Field Monday night was the most brilliant evening affairs given this year, and served to bring to bring the younger set together and to introduce the dancing men to the debutantes. Thursday was a busy day, for there were two large a busy day, for there were two large teas, at one of which Miss Ethel Hay-nie made her debut, and it is safe to teas, at one of which Miss Ethel Hay-nie made her debut, and it is safe to prophesy that she will be one of the most popular girls of the season. Miss Haynie wore a gown of white crepe, simply trimmed with hand work, and carried violets and chrysanthemums, heside being surrounded by Gowers beside being surrounded by flowers. Mrs. Sherman Finch's tea on the same Mrs. Sherman Finch's tea on the same day was a beautiful one, and put an end to a long period of mourning of the popular Hersey family. Mrs. R. F. Hersey received with her daughter, and still calls St. Paul her home, though she spends about as much time at her old home in Maine, and in New York as here. Mrs. Midge youngest daugh. as here. Hello, John! Howdy, howdy? Glad you won out, beat 'em fiat. What, John, you don't remember me? Now, what do you think of that? What's that, John, "Bored to death?"
No doubt—with those other guys—
But with me, you know, it's different,
I'm the idol of your eyes.

You know how we worked together 'To hold this district firm, And how you promised fame and gain If I'd help you get a term?

Why, John, that was only yesterday.

I see! Now wait! Is recollection dead?

You surely can't forget my aid.

Well, merciful heavens, John has fled.
