

KASMIR TOURING FOR LATEST BATHHOUSE IDEAS

Sam Kasmir, of the Hotel McKay Turkish baths, who is engaged in studying the most up-to-date and improved methods of several celebrated Turkish and Russian bath sanitariums, returned from St. Joseph's sanitarium at Milwaukee yesterday and leaves today for Pittsburg and other eastern points, to study methods in those localities. He will be absent from the city for three or four weeks. The site for his new sanitarium in Duluth has already been selected and it is his intention to make the new building one of the finest of its kind in the Northwest.