

IN THE SOCIAL WHIRL

A Vow.
I may not even scale the mountain heights
Where all the great men stand in glory now,
I may not ever gain the world's delights
Or win a wreath of laurels for my brow;
I may not gain the victories that men
Are fighting for, nor do a thing to boast of;
I may not get a fortune here, but
The little that I have I'll make the most of.

I'll make my little home a palace fine,
My little patch of green a garden fair,
And I shall know each humble plant and vine
As rich men know their orchid blossoms rare.
My little home may not be much to see,
Its chimneys may not tower far above,
But it will be a mansion great to me,
Far out of it I'll take a hoard of love.
I will not pass modest pleasures by
To grasp at shadows of more splendid things,
Disdaining what of joyousness is nigh
Because I am denied the joy of kings,
But I will laugh and sing my way along,
I'll make the most of what is mine today,
And if I ever rise above the throng,
I shall have lived a full life anyway.
