"THE FORTUNE HUNTER" FINDS APPROVAL

Virginians Favor Public Auditor- can be placed on a paying basis. ium-Street Car Line Will Prove Boon for Showgoers and Managers -Local Theatrical Notes,

The opening attraction at the new noon and evening in the appearance farce to be anything but a big suc of the "Fortune Hunter" gave Virginia, Eveleth and other range show. | Sunny Side of Broadway" last seagoers their best comedy of years. The spectators were given a laugh a minute and frequently applauded the clever work of the many members show has already proven itself to of the cast.

The story told of a lifeless university graduate, who on failing to make good in cities, follows the advice of a shrewd friend and attempts to win the hand of the "girl with a million" in a small country town. He really wins two hearts, and finally marries the daughter of a poor druggist whom he has aided in business and in the home

The cast was easily the best seen on the range, Denton Vane the star proving an actor of real class. In his hands, Nat Duncan became an instant favorite with the large audience present. Grace Childers, Edna Roland and Myrtle Miller appeared in the feminine roles, Miss Childers proving especially popular with her childish voice and manners. Fred E. Hand, with his earnest manner of advising Duncan in the first act in the way of winning a rich girl, proved a convincing actor, while Thomas Rolfe appeared in a character role. Lesser roles were played by Edgar Murray, Sr., as the banker with the "blink," James Ryley as Roland, the bank clerk, and Guy Kibbee, whose work in the role of Pete Willing, a deputy sheriff, carried off the comedy honors with Denton Vane, the star. Charles B. Boyd, Williard Acker, Harry Starnes and Harry Ellis proved typical rural characters, while Mark Ellison, Howard Phillips and Alfred Seaton appeared in minor

The scenery and electrical effects as well as the rainstorm in the last act were of the best, while Denton Vane's soda fountain comedy provoked much laughter, as did the deputy sheriff's anti-marriage arguments. Music was furnished by the Kraft orchestra of this city.

Many Virginians made the trip to Eveleth by train and on the Titanic and Olympic busses, while others went in their own automobiles. Owner C. A. Marshall and Manager J. L. Morrisey, of the Duluth Lyceum theater, who brought the "Fortune" Lake Junction.

VETERAN HORSEMAN VISITS VIRGINIA W. C. Colbraith, Duluth, representative of a Minneapolis biscuit company, and a veteran horseman of the state, spent Sunday and Monday in this city conferring with local horsemen who are interested in ice racing. Mr. Colbraith is very enthusiastic over the outlook for the 1912-1913 season and wishes to see Virginia in the field again this year. He believes the Longyear Lake track at Chisholm and the Ely Lake course at Eveleth will be used liberally this year, with Miss Hartford, of this city, again winning the racing honors. Local horsemen plan to use Virginia lake again as the race course this year, and with the advent of the colder weather Virginia racers are being put into condition for the season's sport.
