

DULUTHIANS ARE AIDING BELGIANS

Mrs. A. M. Miller and Mrs. Macfarlane Superintend the Work.

DR. COOLBAUGH TALKS OF NEIGHBORHOOD MISSIONS

Twentieth Century Club Meetings — Weddings Are Solemnized.

Evidently there is no end to the generosity of Duluthians, and no limit to their sympathy. Just now they are bending every effort to prepare a large quantity of clothing to send to Holland for the use of destitute Belgians in that country.

Mrs. A. M. Miller and Mrs. A. R. Macfarlane are enlisting the efforts of citizens to have a great many garments to send by next Monday evening. Mrs. Miller has offered her home, 2303 East Second street, as the place for gathering these. Yesterday a prominent Duluthian sent Mrs. Miller a substantial check with the request that she spend the money for garments as her wisdom dictated. Other checks will be welcomed for the same purpose.

Garments for young and old, for men and for women, are necessary, and hospital supplies are sorely needed. The following letter to Mrs. Miller from Richard Polak, prominent in relief work at Rotterdam, speaks for itself.

"Thank you so much for your most sympathetic letter. I have just sent you a wire per Western Union company. Thanks generous offer to help. Funds needed to assist tens of thousands Belgians refugees. Send each thousand collected to J. C. Willver, U. S. manager Western Union, 195 Broadway, who will transfer it to Holland relief fund without charge on either side. Richard Polak."

"My order looks a big one, but my little country can only do with big help. We do what we can ourselves and have given a great deal of money, but now these trains arrive from Antwerp and the rest of Belgium with thousands and thousands of poor women and children and old men, without any belongings, except the little bundles they can carry in their hands. Poor, poor creatures! You never saw such a pitiable sight in your life. Trains full of wretched people, underfed, underclothed, sick with grief and out of their wits with fright! It is too sad for words. We feed them at the station and help them as much as we can and everyone takes a few home. Our government is taking the thing in hand, for as it is we have not enough grain in Holland and we have to eat brown bread and now we have not enough of that for these poor souls.

"Send me all you can and send it quick!

Your old friend,
RICHARD POLAK."

"Evolution of Household Furniture" was the general subject of the meeting of the Twentieth Century club's department of education and the home, held yesterday afternoon in the library clubroom. Mrs. E. J. Rowdell traced the history of furniture from the time of the ancients to the exquisite productions of Chipendale, Heppelwhite and Sheraton. She outlined Chipendale's simplicity and dignity of design, Heppelwhite's artistic handling of different woods, and the heavier, more massive contributions of Sheraton.

The description of the origin and usefulness of the chest, begun in Mrs. Rowdell's talk, was developed in that given by Mrs. F. Mondshine, who told of the meagre equipment brought here by America's early settlers. The chest quite often contained all their possessions. This was developed later into the chest of drawers, the chest-drawer, the bookcase, and other articles of furniture known to us. Mrs. Mondshine paid a tribute to the beauty of the furnishings of old southern homes. Questions and discussions by the members of the department completed a profitable afternoon.
