

"POLITEST" DRUNK SHATTERS WINDOW: ORDERS NEW ONE

Being intoxicated did not affect the sense of duty and politeness of a certain Duluth man who yesterday accidentally broke a large display window in the store of Sam Milavetz, 1 West First street. The drunk meandered to a glass store in the neighborhood, placed an order for a window to replace the one which he shattered and then informed the proprietor of what he had done.

Late last night Milavetz complained to Police Lieutenant E. H. Barber that the window had not been delivered. Efforts to communicate with employes who were said to be at the company's plant, were futile and Milavetz was obliged to board up the space for the night.

Despite this, however, he told Lieutenant Barber that the stranger was "the politest drunk" he ever saw.
