

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The following officers for the third quarter of the year were elected at the weekly meeting of the Stump society yesterday: President, Oliver Vivian; vice president, Irving Grover; secretary and treasurer, Jacob Garon. Maurice Litman was elected program director. A talk was given by Julian Hagberg on the "Proposed Alaskan Railroad" at the close of the business meeting.

The management of the Aitkin basket ball team is all "het up" about the postponement of the basket ball game last Friday night and the facts surrounding the postponement. In justice to the Aitkin boys it is a fact that they were perfectly willing to play, but that the Duluth management called off the game because it was not deemed advisable to bring a visiting team to Duluth in the midst of the examinations. The two teams may get together later in the year and the score will settle all differences.

Tonight in the assembly room of the high school building candidates for the Central debating team will engage in a practice debate with the Grand Rapids trio on the state league question, "Resolved, That All Judges Should Be Made Subject to Popular Recall, Constitutionally Granted." The debate will be a tryout for the Central boys, and all of the men who desire to speak will be given an opportunity, according to Director T. M. Stenberg, either in a formal speech or in rebuttal.

Principal Young is extremely busy revising the programs of students, and doing other work in connection with the beginning of the new semester, so that the usual chapel exercises did not take place yesterday morning.

In order to give the lower classmen an idea as to what a party should be and to show the seniors the faults of their party, the juniors have given an invitation to the presidents of the other classes to attend the closed party Saturday night. All of the faculty members will be tendered a general invitation to attend, and the teachers of junior subjects will be extended formal invitations.

The weekly rehearsal of the school orchestra took place in the assembly room yesterday afternoon. A large number of the musicians appeared and Director Dwight Hiestand was greatly pleased with the practice.
