GILBERT, Aug. 28.—To interest farmers in the first annual Labor day celebration here on Sept. 7, John Siegel and other local boosters motored in the former's automobile to the farming country east of Gilbert.

They interviewed the farmers and it is now said to be certain that much produce will be shown during the celebration. Next week the boosters will visit the farms south of the village. Among those who will make the trip are Peter R. Cosgrove, Michael Siegel, John Siegel and Alex Karvenen.

Prof. M. B. Elson and Herman Bodas have completed a tour of the gardens in the local school district and have induced several children to enter exhibits for the celebration. There is much rivalry among the school gardeners, farmers and home-crofters of the Elba location, a Pickands-Mather company property, who will compete for prizes on Sept. 7.
