

WHISTLE--SPELL, PROBLEM FOR CLUB

Can you whistle between each letter as you spell Philomathians? This was the initiation "stunt" that prospective members of the Philomathian club of Denfeld high school were required to perform before being admitted to the club at a meeting held yesterday.

The problem sounds easier than it is, for it required the five new members some time to perform the stunt. Those who could spell the word found that they couldn't whistle between each letter while those that could whistle couldn't spell the word, and the resulting efforts of the candidates caused much merriment.

Mathematical games and puzzles served as an entertainment for the new members of the club and several members gave readings. Miss Gulnn, instructor in algebra and geometry, is the class adviser and made a short talk.
