

ARE GUESTS AT EASTERN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gidding Attend Marriage of Mr. Gidding's Brother in New York.

Miss Meryl Frank-Steinhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Steinhardt, 310 West One Hundred and Third street, New York city, became the bride of Nathaniel Gidding, also of New York, at 8 o'clock Monday night at the St. Regis. Rev. Maurice Harris read the service, the ceremony taking place under a bower of white peonies, in the Marie Antoinette room.

Tall standards, festooned with clusters of pink and white roses, marked the aisle for the bride. She wore a gown of ivory satin, made in quaint period style, of Elizabethan type, richly embroidered in pearls, with Walter Raleigh sleeves of tulle. The court train was of Duchesse lace, the lower half being of satin. Clusters of orange blossoms held the skirt. A band of pearls and sprays of orange blossoms held the veil of tulle, which fell in voluminous folds.

Miss Leonore Gidding, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gidding, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Silberstein of this city, was her only attendant, and served as flower girl. She wore a quaint little period frock of orchid rose taffeta, with virge blue ribbons. She carried a basket of Tuscan straw filled with rose petals.

Mrs. Steinhardt, mother of the bride, wore a Victorian gown of silver cloth and blue gros de londres, hand embroidered with roses and scrolls of silver and trimmed with silver lace. Her headdress was of the same period. Mrs. J. M. Gidding was gowned in rose metallic cloth and silver lace, embroidered with rose petals, with a double panel train.

Following the ceremony there was a reception and seated dinner for 125 guests. Among those from out-of-town were: Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Gidding and their daughter, Miss Pauline Gidding of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gidding of Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. Gidding left for an extended trip through the Middle West to the Pacific Coast, and will return by way of the Great Lakes. Mr. Gidding is vice president of J. M. Gidding & Co.
