Child Labor Days Set For January

Dr. J. M. Gillette, chairman of the North Dakota child labor committee, received a communication from the chairman of the national child labor committee at Washington yesterday, stating that January 28 and 29 had been set aside as child labor days in the United States, and asked that the women's clubs, churches and schools in the various states make plans for the observance of these days. This is the first time that any thing of the kind has been held, and it will be an introduction to the national baby welfare week, which is to be held later in the spring. Dr. Gillette has directed the call to the members of the committee in the state, and it is expected that they will take up the matter in their respective places of residence.

The national baby welfare week will be held the same as last year, according to Miss Julia Lathrop, of Washington, head of the children's bureau, but the requests have come to her to set the dates for a later time than last year, as March was considered too early. It is probable that the first observance of the week will be held in the southern states and will then be advanced westward, until every state has observed the time.

The December meeting of the Thursday Musical club was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. Olson, 101 Reeves avenue. The Parent-Teachers' association of the Washington school held the regular monthly meeting in the auditorium of the high school, directed by Miss Hazel Fink, Miss Hannah Rose and Miss Florence Gallup. Y. W. C. A. Cafeteria Is Popular Place

The Y. W. C. A. cafeteria, is one of the eating places in the city which is helping to solve the high cost of living, and this is evidenced by the fact that from 80 to 100 persons take their meals there daily. The institution is a cross between a hotel and a home, and is run more to give girls and women and men, too, if they care to come, wholesome food at moderate prices, than to make profit.

The prices at the local cafeteria have changed but little, the only raise being in the meat orders, which were formerly 10 cents but now are 12 cents. The vegetables, soups, salads, desserts of all kinds and drinks are served at the old price of 5 cents. Bread, butter, pickles and other things along these lines are served at 1 cent an order. The high price of eggs has not as yet affected the cafeteria, and the dairies, which require a number of eggs in the making, are still served at the regular prices.

The present war has raised the common bean to the aristocratic table, and more orders for this dish either in soup or baked, are now being called for than before.

Occasionally during the winter months, a special feature of the cafeteria, is the serving of waffle and pancake suppers, which are always unusually well patronized.

Even the cost of paper napkins, which the public in general think so little of, has soared, and these napkins that could be purchased a short time ago for about 22 per bundle, are now selling for nearly twice that amount. The supplies for the cafeteria are still shipped in the city, and the trade is divided among all the grocers.

14 Cents Per Plate Is Cost of Dinner

The members of the home economic department of the Minot normal school served a dinner at the school recently to 39 persons, and the average cost was 14.1 cents a plate. This is exceptionally interesting in these days of the high cost of living. All of the food was prepared and served by the members of the class. This department has served large dinners during the year as part of the regular school work, but this was the most closely computed cost on record. The menu consisted of bouillon en tasse, bread sticks, beef croquettes, mashed potatoes, scalloped corn and macaroni, apricot ice, Kulin Krankies, brownies and coffee. All of the graduates of the school who have desired to teach had no difficulty in securing positions, and 29 of them are engaged in the different schools of the state. The reports show that the wages have been slightly increased for this year, running from $50 a month with the average salary being $59.50.
