

DULUTH JEWS ARE OBSERVING NEW YEAR

Beginning with sundown tonight, and extending until sundown Friday night, Duluth Jews will observe their New Year, or Rosh Hashanah, as it is commonly termed. Among the Reformed Jews the observance will come to a close Thursday evening.

Services at Adas Israel synagogue will be conducted tonight and tomorrow morning, under the direction of J. Braverman, cantor. At Temple Emanuel, Second street and Seventh avenue East, services will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight, and 10 o'clock Thursday morning. A special musical program by a choir composed of Miss Faith Rogers, Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaton, Miss Glen Bartholomew, A. H. Burquist, D. Drummond, Charles Helmer will be given. Dr. Lefkovits will preach at both services.

Solemn prayers characterize all services during this holiday, it being a time dedicated to resolutions for the future. An important feature of the ritual is the blowing of the Shofar or ram's horn.
