

DULUTH JEWS WILL OBSERVE NEW YEAR'S

Rosh Hashono and Yom Kippur
to Be Celebrated Here
Soon.

Duluth Jews will observe their New Years or as it is commonly called, Rosh Hashono, Friday, Sept. 29, with elaborate services in both Temple Emanuel and the Adas Israel synagogue. Beginning with the eve of Sept. 28, the observance will begin, lasting until sunset the next day.

The most solemn day in the Jewish calendar, Yom Kippur, or the Feast of Atonement, will be observed on Oct. 7. Beginning with sunset of Oct. 6, and continuous until sunset of the next day, services will be conducted in the synagogues throughout the city. This observance is a day upon which the Jews, mostly the orthodox, fast and spend the day in prayer.
