

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO BUY BONDS

"Youth must be served" holds good in the Liberty loan campaign as well as elsewhere. Patriotic Duluth Central students want an opportunity to do their bit and buy bonds as well as the older patriots. To give them this chance, W. K. Gill, captain of the fourteenth district, has appointed Thomas F. Clark and Max Soloski to canvass the school.

Principal Leonard Young has been approached on the matter and has promised his hearty co-operation. Arrangements have been made whereby the canvass will start at chapel exercises, Monday morning. Mr. Young will deliver an address on the Liberty loan and will introduce Mr. Clark and Mr. Soloski to the students.

Students as a whole want the opportunity of buying a bond on their own responsibility without the help of their parents. Many of them have savings accounts and are well able to buy one and in some cases two or three.

The bonds can be bought singly for either cash or by installments through the local banks. Another way is for the students to club together and buy them collectively. Different plans will be discussed at the chapel meeting and the students may choose the plan they wish. An opportunity will be given every one and made as easy as possible for them.
