Dancing Classes Continue at Talmud Torah.

The Tuesday evening dancing class meets regularly at the Talmud Torah with a large attendance. The Sunday evening dances are attended by large crowds who avail themselves of the opportunity to enjoy the fine entertainment provided by the committee.

Dr. S. N. Deinard on a Lecture Tour.

This Saturday evening Dr. S. N. Deinard will leave on a trip that will take him to Hancock, Mich., New Orleans, La., and possibly St. Joseph, Mo. At Hancock he will speak to the Jewish Congregation and the Bnai Brith Lodge on March 2. On the 9th he is to lecture at New Orleans under the auspices of the Jewish Lecture Bureau, while at St. Joseph he is to address a large mass meeting which is to open a campaign for the erection of a new Hebrew free school building. The date of the mass meeting has not been definitely settled.

Prof. Norman Wilde at the Temple.

During Dr. Deinard's absence from his pulpit on Friday evening, March 7, Professor Norman Wilde, head of the Department of Philosophy, University of Minnesota, will deliver the address. Professor Wilde has the gift of bringing a philosophic discussion to the intellectual level of the average person, and his address promises to be a real treat for the congregation.

THE GREAT CANTOR.

Rev. Josef Rosenblatt, tenor, is today one of the most remarkable figures in the concert field. Gifted with a voice whose natural beauty and wide range border on the marvellous, he established himself as a tenor worthy of a first place from his very first recital. Reviews of unusual length and favor were the verdicts of the critics: A completely sold-out house was the verdict of the public.

Six years ago Rev. Rosenblatt came to New York at the call of his present congregation. Previous to that time, he had been cantor of several large synagogues in Europe. In his native city in Russia and when only a very young man he became known as one of the youngest cantors in the world. Both abroad and in New York his fame as the possessor of an extraordinarily beautiful tenor voice and remarkable art soon spread, though few knew that outside of purely sacred music, Rev. Rosenblatt had acquired an extensive repertoire, including the arias of the great operas and the folk songs of many countries, each in the original tongue.

Deborah Notes.

At the Deborah Society meeting held Tuesday evening, February 25th, in the vestry rooms of the Adath Yeshurun Synagogue, plans for the opening rally to be given March 9th were discussed. The committees reported on their plans and we expect the rally to be a grand success. In the following issue will appear our program.

Girls, Don't Forget March 9th.

The Deborahs will sew for Hadassah on Tuesday evening, March 4th, at the home of Miss Esther Woolpy, 1817 Chicago avenue. All interested are welcome to join the Deborahs in this good work.

A. G. Rueben Employs Only Former Army Men.

The Rueben Tire Co., a new concern, has opened its doors at 900 Hennepin avenue. It specializes in selling the U. S. and Diamond tires. Mr. A. G. Rueben is at the head of the concern. Mr. Rueben has just returned from the Naval Aviation service, and is employing only former army men, amongst them are Mr. Albert Greenberg of the Trench Mortar service, Mr. Barendfeld of Quartermaster's Aviation, Mr. Edward Carlos, Aviation service, and Mr. Conway Weisley, lieutenant of the Royal Flying Corps.

In connection with selling of tires, they have one of the finest vulcanizing and repair shops in the city.

Expert Chicago Auto Radiator Repairman Locates in Minneapolis.

Mr. Lewis, who has been in the Auto Radiator repair business in Chicago fifteen years, considers Minneapolis the better field for automobile business and has moved his equipment to 1507 Hennepin avenue, where he is manufacturing and repairing auto and truck radiators, fenders and bodies. He brought with him some of his expert mechanics, and says he is there to serve you, guaranteeing all his work. It would pay you to try him.

Rev. Louis Edelson, formerly of Oshkosh, Wis., and now in Chicago as his headquarters, is visiting the Twin Cities as representative of the Jewish Publication Society of Philadelphia. The Jewish Publication Society has now a national membership of about 15,000, and the goal this year is to double this figure, of which Mr. Edelson says the Twin Cities will furnish a proportionate number of new members.
