

INFORMATION REGARDING FIFTH LIBERTY LOAN

The coming Liberty Loan will be handled throughout the county the same as the Fourth.

The same organization both as to county and precinct will be used.

People will be asked to go to their regular polling places Tuesday morning, May 6, and there subscribe for their bonds.

All subscribers will be asked to pay down 10 per cent with their subscriptions as the government asks that the first payment be made on or before May 10th. This will save time for the subscriber.

The bankers urge everyone to buy on the installment plan of the government, which is 10 per cent on or before May 10.

10 per cent, July 15.
20 per cent, August 12.
20 per cent, September 9.
20 per cent, October 7.
20 per cent, November 11.

These terms are very easy and it is the belief that very few will find it necessary to borrow money with which to buy bonds.

Where a person finds it necessary to borrow, the banks of the county will give a rate of 6 per cent.

The Victory Loan bonds are very attractive on account of their short time to run—four years—their high rate of interest 4 1/2 per cent, payable semi-annually. Many people are purchasing these bonds as an investment. There is no finer security in the world.

It is the general impression that these bonds will always be worth more than they cost. It is predicted that within one year after the war they will be selling around 105.

From an investment standpoint, buy all you can afford.

Word has been received that all subscriptions of $10,000 and over may be subject to a cut. This is done so that the few fellows will not eat up the entire loan.

EXTENSION DIVISION NEWS LETTER

What Does Your Car Cost You Per Mile?

A committee appointed at the recent farm bureau conference at University Farm has decided that 8 1/2 cents a mile shall be the standard rate for the reimbursement of county agents for official automobile mileage in 1915. This figure is based on reports of costs of operation submitted by 86 county agents. The average for 48 cars of a small popular type was 7.6 cents a mile; the average for the other 18 was 10.5 cents. County agents may secure a modification of the allowance, when justified, by appealing to the executive committee of the county farm bureau and to the assistant county agent leader.

Will Train Threshermen to Stop Costly Losses

The new threshermen's school to be opened at University Farm, St. Paul, June 16, and to continue for one week, has been arranged for as a means of training threshermen to stop the wasteful operation of threshing machines. Last year on the average of five bushels of wheat, worth about $10, and nine bushels of oats, worth about $5.50, were wasted every day by every machine in operation in Minnesota.

Large Use of Tractors Calls for Trained Men

The increasing use of tractors in farm and other operations multiplies the demand for expert traction engineers. For this reason the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota, University Farm, St. Paul, will offer again this year its traction engineering course. This will open May 19 and close June 14. It will include both operation and repairs of tractors and their manufacture as well.

New Feedstuffs Law Protects Farmers

The new feedstuffs law passed by the legislature, which has just adjourned, is designed to stop the sale of feedstuffs made by mixing elevator dust, oat hulls, chaff or ground corn cobs with corn, bran or oilmeal, and then adding cheap molasses to cover up the ingredients and improve their taste. It provides for correct labeling, for the creation of a laboratory to test feedstuffs, and for the punishment of those who violate the law. The bill was drafted by the animal husbandry and the chemistry specialists at University Farm in co-operation with the state dairy and food commission.

Belgian Hares As Meat Producers

The agricultural extension division of the University of Minnesota has just issued a new bulletin on Belgian hares as meat producers, prepared by F. L. Washburn, economic zoologist. It gives extended instructions as to the breeding and feeding and care of the hare. Copies may be had by addressing Office of Publications, University Farm, St. Paul.

Guard Your Horses Against Azoturia

This is the season, says M. H. Reynolds, of the veterinary division at University Farm, when the careful farmer should take precautions against Azoturia. This takes horses in good condition that have been working rather regularly on full feed and then on account of storm or for other reasons are laid off, even for a day. The horse seems to get stiff or lame in one, then perhaps in both hind legs, loses control of affected limbs and is unable to stand. He goes down, the legs appearing to be paralyzed or less paralyzed and the muscles of the hind quarter and loin may seem to swell and be very hard. Most cases sweat profusely. The urine is dark. Such a case should be gotten on to a stone boat and hauled to shelter. A competent veterinarian should then be sent for. Such cases are not for home treatment. Prevent azoturia by exercising idle horses and reducing feed.

HORSES BRING $600 IN FRANCE

Arnold Schmidt, a first lieutenant in the veterinary corps of the army, who is in France, in a letter to Dr. J. H. Newman of this city, with whom he was formerly employed, states that fancy prices are being paid for horses there. He recently was present at a sale of horses at which some of the animals brought as high as $3,000 francs, or nearly $600.

RED CROSS HOME SERVICE

H. J. Buckingham, Chairman

When a soldier has died, whether on the field of battle or in one of the camps in this country, his relatives are entitled to wear a mourning brassard, or arm-band.

Corolla Felix has asked that this be used in place of the usual black clothing and crepe. The brassard is a band of black broad-cloth, three inches wide, on which is embroidered a gold star. It is to be stitched on the left sleeve, half way between shoulder and elbow. "Our boy was a soldier." His going into the army or navy brought distinction to his family, and gave us the right to wear a service pin, or hang a service flag in our window. Now he has given his life for his country. He died that we and the world might be safe again. A new honor has come to us. Mingled with our grief, there is a feeling of pride, of patriotism, which makes ordinary mourning seem out of place. On behalf of the nation, the Red Cross wishes to give these brassards to the widows and parents of soldiers. Children and brothers and sisters may buy them at cost. More distant relatives are not entitled to wear them. Application should be made to the nearest information bureau of the Red Cross. They will also be glad to help you to secure the soldier's personal belongings, arrears of pay, and the compensation and insurance which may be due you.
