

SUPERIOR HIGH SCHOOLS TO HOLD JOINT EXERCISES

Commencement and Graduation Programs Feature Week In Educational Circles.

Superior and Nelson Dewey high schools will hold their annual joint commencement exercises at Superior high school tonight.

There will be speakers from each school chosen for their high standings during the school course. Margaret Mitchell, Morris Karon and Raymond McDonald will represent Superior high school and Olga Carlson of the Nelson Dewey. Music will be included on the program.

The Nelson Dewey outdoor fete was postponed last night on account of the rain.

Hold Exercises.

Catholic schools of Superior are holding their eighth grade graduation exercises this week. Sacred Heart school, with a class of 21, has the largest number of graduates of the Catholic schools. The Sacred Heart commencement services will be held Sunday night.

On Thursday a class of six will be graduated from St. Adalbert's school. A vaudeville program will be presented by the children. "Down You Go" is the name of the comedy that will be given by several pupils. The Sunflower chorus will be one of the attractions. "The Latest Thing in Hats" will be presented by 14 girls.

Commencement exercises and a banquet will be held by the nine members of the graduating class of St. Louis school Sunday afternoon.

Present Diplomas.

Graduation exercises of the Franklin junior high school were held at the banquet at the school at 6 p. m., yesterday. C. F. Hertlein, honor guest, presented the diplomas. The class prophecy and will, and class song were given at the banquet; decorations for which were in green and white, class colors. There were 19 members of the class. A total of $75 raised by the class play was given to the school by the class.

The Franklin school alumni will meet Monday night to reorganize after which a dance will be held.

A class of 22 Cooper junior high school graduates held their commencement exercises at the school last night. There was music by the school orchestra, and address by Rev. John Schaibly, presentation of diplomas by J. G. Moore, city superintendent of schools, and songs and readings by the students.
