

VIOLIN GENIUS

JASCHA HEIFETZ.

HEIFETZ TO PLAY IN CITY

Violin Sensation of Year in Mrs. Rich- ards' Star List.

The announcement of Mrs. Richards' all-star course this season, as usual, announces to Duluth the newest and most exclusive in musical sensations. She presented Galli-Curci, the famous singer, before New York city had heard her and when the entire East was clamoring for the privilege. This season it is Jascha Heifetz, the Russian boy violinist, who is barely 18 years of age. New York critics are on their knees to him.

As he passes on to Chicago, "the old town goes completely wild," says the exuberant Musical Leader. He "came on the horizon and in the most matter-of-fact way proceeded to lift people off their feet." The fashionable audience, it is said, if not convinced, "forgot to knlt, to be restless and sat up and took such notice as no other audience has taken in years"—

"Here was a real sensation, one who did not know that he was a sensation; in fact, he seemed embarrassed at his reception. He wanted to play and just play without having to acknowledge a dozen more times the rapturous plaudits of the multitude."

Judging by the rush for tickets to Mrs. Richards' All-star concert series, her artists will be greeted by the usual capacity audiences of the past this season. The other attractions she offers this season are: The famous Sistine quartette from the Vatican, Rome, Oct. 6. Mme. Galli-Curci, noted Grand Opera singer, in October Mary Garden and Serge Rachmaninoff, pianist. For reservations call Mrs. Geo. S. Richards, Hemlock 1006, Grand 1354-D.
