

SCRAP IRON, METAL, JUNK BASIS OF DAMAGE SUIT

A dispute over a contract for the delivery of scrap iron, metal and junk has resulted in a damage suit for $102.17 in district court. Solomon, Joseph and Benjamin Karor, doing business as the Northern Scrap Iron & Metal company, are suing W. Allen Parker.

The plaintiffs allege they made a contract to have scrap iron and junk shipped to them by the defendant but that he failed to fulfill the terms of the agreement.