

MAN FINDS WATCH STOLEN; POLICE SEEK GIPSY PALMIST

Police are today searching for a woman believed to be a gipsy fortune teller, who is alleged to have stolen watch valued at $50 from A. Levenson, 313 Cumming avenue. As yet no arrests have been made, however.

The alleged theft occurred yesterday morning when Anna Levenson, daughter of the victim, was at home alone. A woman, according to the girl's story, called at the Levenson home and persuaded the girl to give her the watch and chain.
