

RABBI FROM EAST TO SPEAK AT TEMPLE EMANUEL TONIGHT

Rabbi Harvey Wesel of Asheville, N. C., will speak at 8 p. m. tonight at public services in Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue East and Second street, at the invitation of a committee which is considering a successor to Rabbi Maurice Lefovits, who resigned several months ago to join a banking firm. Rabbi Wessel was in St. Paul yesterday.

E. A. Silberstein of the committee said yesterday many candidates to fill the temple pulpit have been considered, but how soon the position will be filled is uncertain. In the meantime, Bernard Silberstein, Duluth merchant, occupies the pulpit at the Friday night services.
