STAR TO PUBLISH BIRTHDAY EXTRA.

The Weekly Star, published by two Ely youths, will come out with a special third anniversary edition Saturday.

Robert Hedloff, 16, and Michael Murphy, 14, who have their eyes on a career in journalism but who are now very much occupied with getting out the mimeographed weekly which they founded, act as reporters, editors, typists, advertising solicitors, business managers, and mimeograph operators for their paper.

They are assisted only in the circulation department, managed by their brothers, Dick Hedloff, 12, and Arthur Murphy, 11. These two see that the papers get to the subscribers before the ink is entirely dry.

Usual circulation for the six-page paper is 150, but there will be extras for the special edition Saturday. It will have a special anniversary cover.

Their "outside" mailing list includes Virginia and Hibbing. A "special correspondent" in Hawaii also receives a paper, and before the war a missionary in Hong Kong, China.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The power of the greatest Navy in the world, our own two-ocean fleet, rests in large measure on its backbone—the Battleships of the Line. They displace approximately 35,000 tons and cost up to $70,000,000. We have something like a score of these huge ships in the Atlantic and Pacific.

Eight huge battleships are under construction and more are contemplated. To finance these modern goliaths of the sea it is necessary for every American everywhere to buy more and more War Bonds. We can do it if every body does his share. Invest at least ten percent of your income every pay day to help your country go over its Bond Quota.

Contrary to popular belief, quicksand does not suck you down. If you keep still and allow yourself to sink feet first, with your arms outstretched, you will come to rest about chest deep and be buoyed up as you would in water.

The harassed question about the relationship between good teeth and good diet has not yet been settled to the complete satisfaction of the physiologists. But doctors and dentists do know from experience with many mouths that, while good nutrition will not always guarantee good teeth, bad nutrition over long periods regularly shows up in tooth decay.

Furthermore, good nutrition, as far as teeth are concerned is not only lack of the minerals and vitamins that go to the manufacture of good tooth material, but lack of natural, hard foods which require vigorous chewing.

Refining, "purifying", over-cooking and softening food are bad business on several health accounts. First, they are likely to remove needed important vitamins and minerals and second, they take away from the teeth the natural, hard foods which require vigorous chewing.

Of course other factors besides food may be at work in case of early tooth decay; but the best assurance of sound teeth in our present knowledge of dental cares is plenty of natural, unrefined foods such as coarse grain cereals, uncooked vegetables and fruits which require chewing, along with milk, meat, cheese and eggs—plus the careful periodic attention of your dentist.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Mrs. F. T.—Is it too late for hay fever treatments for rag weed pollen to be effective this year?

Ans.—To be most effective, hay fever treatment should be started at least three or four weeks before the date when your hay fever usually starts. There are many reports of relief, however, from treatment started even after trouble begins and there is a good chance that treatments started now will greatly modify your discomfort this year.

J. R. T.—Is there any help for prostate trouble? I am 77 years old.

Ans.—Prostate trouble can be cured or greatly relieved by surgery in most cases. Your doctor can tell after examination if you need surgery and where and when to get it.
