Louis J. Cassulo

CASSULO, Louis J. - Born November 1, 1930, passed away at home on October 15, 2005. A classic in the true sense of the word. An avid hunter, fisherman, outdoorsman and unaffiliated environmentalist. Lou was an iconoclast, undaunted and unafraid to speak his mind. He was a world traveler, craftsman and proud Italian American. Beloved son of the late Carlo and Adelina, Lou is survived by his loving wife, Lois; his three beautiful daughters with Lillian, Laura, Lisa and Lesanne; his long-suffering sons-in-law, Lou Matteucci and Bill Smith; beloved grandsons Dan, Dominic and Raymond; sister-in-law, Fern Jennings; and an immense circle of devoted friends, hunting partners, neighbors, luminaries, and groupies, all people who loved Lou dearly. As a young man, he was raised in North Beach. He was a soccer player on top ranked soccer clubs and a natural athlete. He was a member of the San Francisco Italian Athletic Club, Sons of the Golden West and was a self-employed business owner for many years. He resided in his beautiful self-built home in Marin for over 30 years. Lou was a gourmet cook, famous for his barbeque feasts and his generous hospitality. A gifted gardener, his green thumb yielded a bounty of fruit, vegetables and flowers. You never left Lou's house hungry or unscathed by a flick of quick wit from his deep and distinctive voice. Lou would literally give you the shirt off his back and always went out of his way to make his guests feel welcomed. Lou had a great sense of humor, often with self deprecation, and to "just spice it up," he would stir the dinner dialogues as he did his sauces. Lou was one "tough old bastard" who found his solace in his hunting house in Princeton with his loyal dogs, Fritz and Klaus. As the ducks circled his blind, Lou always stood ready, dog at his side, downwind, a sure shot who knew precisely what he was about. If you listen closely when you think of Lou, you may hear Sinatra singing, "I did it My Way," because like Sinatra, you can't fill the void when a legend passes. Just sit back and enjoy the music that was Lou Cassulo's life. Friends wishing to celebrate Lou's memory may join the family at Deer Park Villa, 367 Bolinas Road, Farifax, CA, 94930, on Tuesday, October 25, from 1-3pm. Donations may be sent to the Salesian Boy's and Girl's Club, 670 Filbert St, SF, CA 94123 or the Nevada SPCA, 4800 W. Dewey Drive, Las Vegas, NV 94123. My prayers and condolences to Lois and Louis' 3 daughters and their families over the loss of Louis. I regret I cannot make the memorial since I am out of the country.

Louis was a unique and wonderful man, who brought much enrichment to all our lives.

Sincerely,
Gene Ceccotti

Laua, my sympathies to you, your mom and family. Though I didn't know your dad, he sounds like a great person--good role model and someone who enjoyed his life to the fullest. A lot of fun, too. You were lucky to have him and he you.

Take care, Deb Goodin
