

LOUIS GOLDISH IS BADLY INJURED ON DAISY DOCK

Caught in the landing rope of a large steamer as it was approaching the Quebec pier of the Daisy dock, Louis Goldish, manager of the Lake Superior Fish company, was so severely injured yesterday that it was thought it would be necessary to amputate his legs. He is now in St. Francis hospital, where it is said amputation may not be necessary. He lives at 208 East First street, Duluth.
