JUAREZ is just as much Juarez as it ever was—only more so: After an absence of three months, due to the afference in political and atmospheric climate, revolutionary disturbances and distance from the centers of trade, Ciudad Benito Juarez looks just as dusty, equally filled with flies and crowded with sightseers a Sundayins on the other shore as it did during the pre-Villa days.

The old church has a coat of paint that makes it look like Sarah Bernhardt made up for the death scene in Camille. Fancy stripes outline its ageold belfry and even the weather beaten beams in the bell tower have been painted a battleship gray. Only the blackbirds in the Plaza of Peace seemed the same, they and the shine boys who wailed their plaintive "chine" to be drowned in the chatter of afternoon small talk by the birds in the trees overhead.

Romance Aplenty.

Down Calle de la Paz dashed a rebel warrior bold, his high hat flapping in the stiff breeze, his spurs clanking as he drove the rowels into the lean sides of the cow pony and quirted his belly with a rawhide thong. His rifle jumped

Soldier Looks Businesslike,

Los Angeles, Cal., May 26.—That an affinity is a hazard and that the courting of an affinity by a married man is a dangerous undertaking, is the basis of a law suit that has brought beautiful Leah Alexander, slaver of J. D. Van Baalen, of San Francisco, into the limelight again.

Angeles.

The insurance company declares the love affair of the beautiful woman and Van Baalen, which resulted in his death and her acquittal on a charge of murder, was a hazard that Van Baalen is nored when in his application for $5000 life insurance he stated that he was not engaged in any dangerous or hazardous occupation.

Question Up to Court.

Thus the court must decide this problem. "Is an affinity a hazard"

The love letters Van Baalen wrote to his affinity will be the chief witnesses for the insurance company. These letters will prove, according to the girl herself, that Van Baalen declared he wanted to marry her and the contention of the insurance company is that such a declaration made by a married man was about as perilous a plan as a human mind could conceive.

Leah Alexander, who had been living quietly with her mother at 1015 Lake Shore avenue since the ending of her love tragedy, is declared to be a "hazardous undertaking." and the love journey which the two took to Cuba last May is considered in the light of a dangerous voyage by the London Guarantee and Accident company, in answer to Mrs. Antoinette Van Baalen's suit to collect her husband's policy.

Affialty Not Menticed.

to Mrs. Antoinette Van Baalen's suit to collect her husband's policy.

Affinity Not Mentioned.

The fact that Van Baalen forgot to mention his affinity when he took out an accident policy, is believed by the company to be sufficient grounds to break the policy. That he swore he had no plans in view which might result in disaster, when his affair with Leah Alexander had already begun is faciared

Miss Alexander, whose deposition is to be the mainstay of the insurance company's case, does not believe that she was a dangerous hazard.

The girl, who is working in a millinery store in Los Angeles, striving to forget the tragic past, declared today that she hoped Mrs. Van Baalen would get the money.

Arrays of legal talent have been engaged by the company to prove that an affinity, a trip to the magic islands of the West Indies and the promise of a married man to marry again are all dangerous and perilous plans.

Birds Conserve Public Health

Their Value to Farmers Long Ago Recognized, but New Relation to Public Health Only Recently Discovered; Kill Off Mosquitoes, Solder Looks Businessike.

There is a missing touch of the pical turesque in the makeup of the Villa revolutionists which was so conspicuous in the battlers with Madero and Orozco. The neat, olive drab uniforms, with their round, brass buttons, give the soldiers a trim, warlike appearance, but they have lost that comic operativager of the stage brigand which made the Madero fighters such interesting fellows. A squad of "Constitutionalist" cavalry cantered down Comercio street with rifles unslung and bandoleers filled. They were going out for the night. At their head rode a splendid physical specimen, at the rear a bit of a 12 year old boy, while a big, husky American compuncher with high crowned hat trotted at the side of the commander as his aide.

These passing glimpses of a country of contrasting color may be caught any day in profusion. That is what makes Juarez the Mecca of all transcontinental tourists and students of current history in the websien. ASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.—

New light is shed on the activities of birds as conservers of the public health in a communication to the National Geographic society from Henry W. Henshaw chief of the biological survey. The survey for a considerable period has been studying the foods of birds by examining the stomachs of specimens killed for scientific purposes. "The value of birds to the farmer is plain enough, but we do not usually think of birds as having any direct relation to the public heaith," writes Mr. Henshaw. To prove that they do, however, it is only necessary to state that 500 mosquitoes have been found in the stomach of a single nighthawk; that in a kildeer's stomach hundreds of the larvae of the saltmarsh mosquito have seen found, and that mosquito have seen found and that mosquito have seen the activities of the birds and have a special function of their own, the destruction of noxious reduction of the saltmarsh mosquito have seen found and that mosquito have seen found and that the seen calls have been cunningly adapted to this send.
