Trudy was born in Winnipeg, Manitoba. She married Barry in Winnipeg in 1944. They settled in Kelowna in 1946. Barry worked at the Simpson Sawmill and Trudy worked at the local packing house.

Trudy was a caregiver most of her life looking after her handicapped son David who was a Quadriplegic as a result of a car accident when he was 19 years old.

Trudy loved to socialize and dance. Round dancing, Square dancing, line dancing - she did it all. She loved to sew and made clothes for herself and her children. She used her talent to design and sew all her square dance dresses.

Family was important to her. And family always came first. She was generous and loving to her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. She loved life.
