In San Diego children who need a safe place to go often come to the A.B. and Jessie Polinsky Center. We don't like to think about children not being safe in their homes but it happens. Mr. Polinsky died in 1983 and in 1990 his wife Jessie contributed $5,000,000 to ensure that children in crisis have a place to go. She died in 1993 and the Polinsky Center opened the next year.

Today the Polinsky Center provides a refuge to the most vulnerable among us.

May their names be a blessing.
